

Cory Doctorow

Activist, Writer, Public Speaker and Technology Guru

Cory Doctorow (craphound.com) is a prolific writer who appears on the mastheads at Wired, Make and Popular Science magazines, and whose science fiction novels have won the Campbell, Sunburst and Locus Awards and whose novel Down and Out in the Magic Kingdom was a finalist for this year's Nebula Award. He is the co-editor of the popular weblog Boing Boing (boingboing.net).

Born in Canada, he now lives in London, England. His most recent novel is Someone Comes to Town, Someone Leaves Town, simultaneously released in hardcover by Tor Books and as a free Creative Commons licensed download online at <http://craphound.com/someone>.

He serves as the European Affairs Coordinator for the Electronic Frontier Foundation (eff.org), a member-supported nonprofit group that works to uphold civil liberties values in technology law, policy and standards. He represents EFF's interests at various standards bodies and consortia, and at the United Nations' World Intellectual Property Organization.